

Advertiser's Kit

The Cinemagine Network is a group of three leading web sites targeting filmmakers and film industry professionals across the globe. The network collectively generates half a million annual visits from users in over 20 countries. The network comprises the following sites:

Filmmaking.net Founded in 1994, filmmaking.net is one of the web's top news and community sites for new and independent filmmakers. www.filmmaking.net

CannesGuide.com Companion to the leading travel guide book for filmmakers and film industry professionals attending the Cannes Film Festival. www.cannesguide.com

SundanceGuide.net Companion to the leading travel guide book for film fans, filmmakers, and film industry professionals attending the Sundance Film Festival. www.sundanceguide.net

Partnering with Cinemagine represents an extremely cost-effective way of speaking to a niche market of highly motivated independent filmmakers. To help you reach this audience with your product or service, a range of advertising, sponsorship, and product-placement options are available. We also invite you to suggest more bespoke ways in which filmmaking.net can work with you to help you get your message to our audience.

Standard Advertising Placements

The Cinemagine Network offers a range of placement options using standard digital advertising industry formats. In addition, we offer several customised house formats to maximise campaign exposure to our audience.

Banners

Our standard banner options are placed on all pages across the network. Each time a page is loaded the ad server inserts an ad from the available pool into the relevant media space. All banners are sold on a CPM (cost per thousand impressions) basis; however tenancy agreements for selected pages are also available.

Text Links

Text links are short sentences which are linked to the advertiser’s web site. These are normally 5-10 words and positioning within the page is negotiable, so long as the ads are in keeping with the page design and relevant to the content. Text links are sold on a tenancy basis in blocks of one month. All text links include the NOFOLLOW attribute in the anchor tag.

Standard Text Link Approximately 10-15 words, placement negotiable.	Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit. Duis vel massa.

Bespoke Solutions

Cinemagine offers a range of standard options for advertising on our network. However, we are equally open to discussing any ideas you have for a more customised solution on the site. We have undertaken a range of bespoke advertising arrangements in the past, so if you have an idea for an alternative way in which you could work with Cinemagine to market your product or service, feel free to contact us to discuss it further.

Tracking and Reporting

All online advertising options are served via the leading open-source ad serving product Revive Adserver (www.revive-adserver.com). Access to real-time statistics for ads served by Cinemagine is available to advertisers via a password-protected URL. Revive is also compatible with tags supplied by leading industry ad servers such as DoubleClick and 247/Real Media.
